

Social Entrepreneurship Doctoral Seminar, Cape Town, South Africa

May 26 – 30, 2020

We are inviting doctoral students (and interested faculty) to a week-long, intensive social entrepreneurship doctoral seminar. Social entrepreneurship is a vitally important arena of scholarly research and teaching. Doctoral level training is needed to equip researchers in the core concepts and empirical findings of this emerging domain. This seminar involves two of the field's leading scholars as co-teachers and provides an in-depth survey of recent social entrepreneurship scholarship and its theoretical background. It has been taught at different universities in the United States, including Harvard, and will now be offered for the first time in South Africa. More information about the seminar, in general, is available at <https://sedocseminar.org>

Location. The seminar will be held at University of Cape Town Graduate School of Business Conference Centre, Portswood Road, Green Point.

Preparation and Course Requirements. To teach an intensive reading course effectively in just one week, delegates must complete the readings ahead of time. In the weeks preceding the one-week intensive session, students will read the articles and prepare and submit notes of their reading. The notes will consist of brief article summaries and at least two discussion questions per session. This will ensure the readings are completed in advance. The notes and questions submitted will be used to formulate discussion questions and other course planning. A prior year course syllabus is available upon request.

Schedule. The meeting schedule of this intensive doctoral seminar will be as follows:

Tuesday, May 26	– 12:30-17:30 (Session 1)
Wednesday, May 27	– 8:30-noon (Session 2) and 13:30-17:00 (Session 3)
Thursday, May 28	– 8:30-noon (Session 4) and 13:30-17:00 (Session 5)
Friday, May 29	– 8:30-noon (Session 6) and 13:30-17:00 (Session 7)
Saturday, May 30	– 8:30-13:30 (Session 8)

Cost. The cost of the seminar is ZAR 6000.

Meals. The seminar cost includes teas and coffees; lunch; and a closing dinner on the Friday evening.

Accommodation. Delegates are responsible for their own accommodation. Limited accommodation is available at the Marriott Protea Breakwater Lodge at the Graduate School of Business. You may contact reservations by emailing, reserve@bwl.co.za. Alternatively, housing options, including hotels and Airbnb are available nearby.

General enquiries. For general enquiries, you may email SE2020UCT@gmail.com.

Applying for the Seminar. All applicants for the 2020 Social Entrepreneurship Doctoral Seminar, Cape Town, South Africa, need to prepare the application form included at the end of these instructions. Along with the basic information on the application form, please provide a 600-900 word essay indicating why you would like to study social entrepreneurship and the topics of most interest to you within the domain. If you are a doctoral student, include a letter from your advisor or university official indicating that you are a doctoral-level student in good standing. Faculty who already have a terminal degree but would like to study social entrepreneurship in greater depth may also apply. If you are faculty, please submit your 600-900 word essay on the letterhead of your current employer. Applications should be submitted electronically by November 30, 2019 to SE2020UCT@gmail.com. Your email header must read: "Application SE2020 UCT"

About the Co-Teachers.

Professor Tom Lumpkin

Tom Lumpkin is the C.S. Trosper Chair and Professor of Entrepreneurship, and Director of the Division of Entrepreneurship and Economic Development at Oklahoma University Price College of Business. Tom is a globally recognized scholar whose research interests include entrepreneurial orientation, social entrepreneurship, and family business.

Professor Sophie Bacq

Sophie Bacq is an Associate Professor of Entrepreneurship at Indiana University Kelley School of Business. Sophie co-led the 2019 Social Entrepreneurship Doctoral Seminar. Sophie is a leading scholar in social entrepreneurship. In her research, she investigates and theorizes about entrepreneurship action aiming to solve today's social and environmental problems.

2020 Social Entrepreneurship Doctoral Seminar, Cape Town, South Africa

APPLICATION FORM

- 1). Name:
- 2). Email address:
- 3). Billing address:
- 4). Best contact phone number:
- 5). University:
- 6). Department:
- 7). Please check one of the following: Doctoral student (Go to question 8)
 Faculty member (Go to question 10)
- 8). Primary Advisor:
- 9). Years completed in doctoral program:
- 10). Nationality (optional): _____

Seminar arrangements:

- 11). Do you have any special dietary needs? Please describe:
- 12). Other:

Send your completed application (including your 600-900 word essay) to SE2020UCT@gmail.com.